BUSINESS OVERVIEW

Nexient is America's largest 100% US-based software development consulting firm. Nexient deploys agile methodology, primarily in the mobile and digital space, to help their clients outpace their competition.

PARTNERSHIP

ArightCo formed a partnership with Nexient prior to its incorporation, aiding in the development of a strong business model. With Nexient's incorporation in 2010, ArightCo received the mandate to handle accounting and financial management activities. By the end of 2011, ArightCo President and Co-Founder, Tanmoy Chowdhury, was handling CFO functions - including accounts, financial management, and corporate legal duties. The ArightCo team handles legal services, accounting, bookkeeping, and external contracts for Nexient, along with day-to-day activities ranging from accounting entries, payroll processing, annual books reviews, tax return filing, cap table maintenance, legal compliance, quarterly board meetings, agenda minutes, and much more.

Through the years, ArightCo has scaled processes and policies to accommodate Nexient's growth - addressing any challenges faced along the way. Nexient has acquired several companies, including Claritics and ZunaInfoTech. From financial due diligence to integration, ArightCo services were instrumental throughout these deals. Additionally, in 2020 Nexient purchased a delivery center in Michigan for $11 million, utilizing ArightCo services to handle the financial aspects of this purchase.

THE SALE

During the process of acquisition, ArightCo organized and handled all financial due diligence, legal due diligence, and compliance due diligence for three prospective buyers of Nexient, resulting in a definite agreement between Nexient and NTT Data - one of the world's largest IT services & consulting companies, amassing over $4 billion in revenue annually. As Nexient integrates with NTT Data, ArightCo continues to be Nexient's trusted partner for financial and back-office support. The sale was a highly profitable exit for Nexient management and investors.
